

BIN

No matter what types of meat, poultry, or fish by-products you process, you will always need simple, rugged bins for moving, storing, and handling everything from raw materials and other inputs to finished products.

The product program for rendering comprises various types of bins. The size and design of the bins depend on the amount of material, the processes in the subsequent plant, and the type of material being handled.

We supply all kinds of bins, from small charging/dosing bins (2–5 m³) to large storage bins with capacities of approximately 150–200 m³.
